

PREAMBLE

Doing research may not be a difficult task but it is quite obvious to face problems when it comes to write a paper for publication. Proper guidance can be a promissive tool towards the solution of the problem. In this regard National Centre of Excellence in Physical Chemistry, University of Peshawar is going to organize a " Two Days Seminar on Research Paper Writing" in which experienced researchers will be available to guide the students about writing a research paper and all the steps involved from writing to publishing of papers. Guidance will also be provided regarding the linguistic problems during writing. Due to availability of limited seats opportunity will be provided on first come first serve basis.
